HOW THE GOVERNMENT USES YOUR DATA

Under regulation 5 of The Education (Information About Individual Pupils) (England) Regulations 2013 we are required to share information about our pupils with the Department for Education.

The pupil data that we lawfully share with the DfE through data collections:

- underpins school funding, which is calculated based upon the numbers of children and their characteristics in each school;
- informs "short term" education policy monitoring and school accountability and intervention;
- supports "longer term" research and monitoring of educational policy.

Data Collection Requirements

To find out more about the data collection requirements placed on us by the Department for Education go to <https://www.gov.uk/education/data-collection-and-censuses-for-schools>

The National Pupil Database (NPD):

The NPD is owned and managed by the Department for Education and contains information about pupils in schools in England. It provides invaluable evidence on educational performance to inform independent research, as well as studies commissioned by the Department. It is held in electronic format for statistical purposes. This information is securely collected from a range of sources including schools, local authorities and awarding bodies.

To find out more about the NPD, go to <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/national-pupil-database-user-guide-and-supporting-information>

The law allows the DfE to share pupils' personal data with certain third parties, including:

- schools and local authorities;
- researchers;
- organisations connected with promoting the education or wellbeing of children in England;
- other government departments or agencies;
- organisations fighting or identifying crime.

For more information about the DfE's data sharing process please visit: <https://www.gov.uk/data-protection-how-we-collect-and-share-research-data>

Organisations fighting or identifying crime may use their legal powers to contact the DfE to request access to individual level information relevant to detecting that crime. Whilst numbers fluctuate slightly over time, the DfE typically supplies data on around 600 pupils per year to the Home Office and roughly 1 per year to the Police.

For information about which organisations the department has provided pupil information, (and for which project), please visit: <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/dfe-external-data-shares>
